Forecast For Scotland
Issued by Met Office Aberdeen
at 0400 on Tuesday 04 May 2021

++ Valid for broadcast between 0600 and 1800

Headline:
Cloudy, showery start, becoming drier, brighter by afternoon.

Today:
Rather cloudy, showery start to the day. Drier, brighter weather over Northern Isles will extend southwards during the morning. Then a drier afternoon with sunny spells and a few showers, wintry on hills. Cool with fresh northerly winds.

Tonight:
Clear periods and further showers, mainly over northern Scotland, turning wintry even to lower levels. Central and southern Scotland staying mostly dry. A cold night with a frost developing.

Wednesday:
Rather cloudy over northern Scotland with scattered showers, wintry lower down at first then snow confined to hills. Dry, sunny start further south, then clouds building with some afternoon showers.

Outlook for Thursday to Saturday:
Some sunshine and scattered showers on Thursday and Friday. Dry, bright Saturday morning then rain extending up from the south later. Temperatures on the cold side with frosts at nights.

(C) Crown Copyright 2021. Published by the Met Office.